April 26 – Terry Hardie, "Scenes of Turkey"

Terry's gave a presentation to club members about a tour of Turkey he and his wife took in May, 2008 that started in Istanbul and ended in the capital city of Ankara. They visited the Blue Mosque, Topkapi Palace, Hagia Sofia, the Grand Bazaar and Spice Market. As they traveled along the Aegean Sea coast, they made stops in Gallipoli (site of the WWI battlefield), Troy, Pergamum, Ephesus and Sirince. They then boarded a 12 passenger chartered yacht for a four night cruise along the Turquoise Coast of the Mediterranean. Along the way they visited numerous islands, coves, a 6th century Byzantine monastery and the ancient sites of Dalyan, Perge, Aspendos and Myra. It was in Dalyan and Myra where high on the hillsides, ancient Lycian rock tombs were carved out of the limestone walls. They then traveled along the Mediterranean coast to the resort city of Antalya which features a charming Old Town, including the extravagantly carved Hadrian's Gate and the fluted minaret called the Yivli Minare. The highlight of their tour was a trip through the interior to the magical cities of Cappadocia and the Goreme Valley with their bizarre rock formations, and homes and churches carved from the soft volcanic tuff Their final stop was in Ankara that was established in 1923 following WWI

May 3 – Liz Kritza, CU Head Volleyball Coach

A native of Colorado Springs, Coach Liz Kritza attended Tulane University in New Orleans on a volleyball scholarship, attaining degrees in biology and finance before becoming a successful women's volleyball coach there. After one game as coach, hurricane Katrina hit, requiring 10 matches to be cancelled and home games to be played at Texas A&M. "That first season prepared me for everything," she said. Liz was hired as CU's head women's volleyball coach last year. She calls the Big 12 one of the top volleyball conferences in the country, and knows she has a tough job: "In the Big 12, we have to outwork a lot of people." She's assembled a "very competitive" staff, and is aggressively recruiting top high school players in Colorado (with hopes of having seven Coloradans on the squad next year), as well as in Texas and California. Her goal is to win a Big 12 and national championship for CU. Good luck Liz!

Club Members to Keep in Your Thoughts

- Sandy Felte, recovering from cancer
- Hugh Matheson, undergoing back surgery soon

Foothills Members Participate in April 30 Boulder Children's Day Safety Training Sponsored by Kiwanis

Thanks to Fred McGehan and other local Kiwanians who helped organize the Kiwanis-sponsored part of the Boulder Children's Day event, Foothills members Dave Rogers, Jerry Gilland, Kerry Hassler, and Fred helped kids learn about various aspects of safety at this event held on the Pearl Street Mall on April 30. The safety topics kids heard about included the importance of –

- Wearing helmets while riding bikes and skateboards
- Being careful about eating candy and sweets given by people they don't know
- Knowing how to escape a home or building that's on fire, and what to do if your clothes are on fire
- Knowing and obeying different types of traffic signs.

The Kiwanis Junglemobile was used to talk to kids about safety topics. Thanks to Fred for organizing our club's participation!
