November 9 - Bill Obermeier and Beth Smith, Update on the Boulder Dairy Facility Renovation

Bill (Executive Director of The Dairy Center for the Arts) talked about the renovation of the Dairy Center building in Boulder located at 2590 Walnut Street. This includes

- A new exterior that itself will be new piece of architectural art for Boulder with a dramatic waved roof.
- A welcoming main entrance with an easily accessible box office.
- An enlarged lobby, complete with a café.
- A transparent glass atrium with an adjoining outside plaza.

The total cost of this renovation is $6.5 million, with donations of $3.85 million from the Boedecker Foundation, $300,000 from Western Disposal, and $1.5 million from individual donations. Another $350,000 needs to be raised to complete the renovation. The first phase of the renovation will be done in February, and the grand opening will be next September. Bill also talked about the many theater, dance, and cinema programs offered by The Dairy. Development Manager Beth Smith also talked about the “Kids at the Dairy” program held six times each year in association with local elementary schools (Whittier, Columbine, Sanchez, Pioneer, and University Hill). Over 400 preschool and kindergarten kids go on a half-day field trip to learn about art and do art activities. For more info, see -- <https://tickets.thedairy.org>.

November 16 – Mike Fellows, Waverly Person’s Honor Flight Trip

Update about Nyaka Aids Orphans Project in Uganda

■ Sue Lathrop, Nyaka Aids Project Volunteer

On November 2, Jerry Gilland was joined at our Foothills Kiwanis meeting by his wife, Janet and daughter Sue who extended thanks to our club for the generous donation given to the Nyaka AIDS Orphans Project. She told us that the secondary school is near completion, and students started attending classes there this past February. This school provides academic instruction as well as teaches vocational skills. She also had this update on NAOP:

In September 2015, Nyaka AIDS Orphans Project was informed that our Founder and Executive Director, Twesigye Jackson Kaguri, was selected as one of four finalists for the 2015 Waislitz Global Citizen Award.

The four finalists were challenged to compete to win the award by popular vote. The Nyaka family responded with such excitement and energy! They shared on social media, with their friends, in their schools, places of worship, and everywhere else they could. All this hard work paid off!

Jackson was officially named the winner of the 2015 Waislitz Global Citizen Award on Thursday, September 24th at the Guggenheim Partners in New York City.

Jackson addressed more than 60,000 event attendees, world leaders, and change makers at the Global Citizen Festival on September 26th, 2015 in New York City. Afterwards, he appeared and spoke briefly at a concert in Central Park that drew a crowd of thousands more people. The entire event was live streamed over the internet.

The award includes a prize of $100,000 USD that will be used to further the mission of the Nyaka AIDS Orphans Project to end extreme poverty for HIV/AIDS orphans and their grandmothers in southwest Uganda.

We would like to thank the Nyaka family, for voting, sharing, and encouraging us during this campaign.

Volunteers needed to help Elementary School Kids

Here's information about volunteer opportunities offered to Foothills Kiwanis members to help kids that's being supported by the CU CKI Club. If you're interested, contact our club's CKI Kiwanis Advisor Paul Bailey at -- gpaulbailey@gmail.com.

- Eisenhower Elementary: Eisenhower Elementary School is in need of tutors for all subjects, but particularly in math. No matter your major, this is elementary school level, so you will definitely be able to help! The Eisenhower principal is willing to work with anyone's schedule, so long as it is during the school day (from about 8am-3pm) and potentially after school if that is the only time you are available. This opportunity is available any day of the week. If interested, please fill out the form and specify day of the week and time of day.

- Foothill Elementary: Foothill Elementary School is in need of adult mentors and tutors to help about 25 kids with homework every Wednesday. These students have home situations which hinder their success in school and the Wednesday Homework Club is a chance to help keep them on track. Volunteers would serve as role models and tutors, primarily with reading. If interested, please indicate so on the form.

The Boulder Valley School District (BVSD) requires background checks be done for all volunteers. For details, see -- www.tcllogiq.com/bvsdv or call TClLogiQ at – 877-825-6447 The fee for a check is $17, which may be covered by our club.
