June 2 – Katie Timmons, “Water-Related Projects in Kenya”

Katie (Pete Sprenkle’s granddaughter and a student at Colorado School of Mines) talked to our club members about being a volunteer for the “The Invictus Initiative” non-profit organization that helps needy communities in Kenya as well as Brazil, Mexico, and Nepal. Katie will be going to Kenya from July 14-August 1 with 14 other students from the School of Mines and Regis University to work on projects at the Kawangware Vision Centre in Nairobi, as well as in the village of Ulthe Mungao. In this village, they’ll help residents form a management team to maintain a bridge built for them several years ago. After her talk, President Adam presented Katie with a $200 donation from our club to help cover expenses for her trip. Katie will be giving a follow-up talk about her trip after she returns.

The mission of “The Invictus Initiative” non-profit is to bring solutions to the world’s people by effectively matching up the skills, abilities, and resources of their volunteers with identified sustainable humanitarian causes and organizations around the globe. Genevieve "Vivi" Gregorich, Scholarship Winner
 -- Gary Symes, Foothills Tuition Scholarship Committee

Foothills Kiwanis members were pleased to welcome Vivi Gregorich and her mother, Shelley, to our June 2 meeting. Vivi could not have breakfast, because she was leading a softball camp for young girls that morning. That says it all about Vivi. Besides being an excellent student, throughout her time at Boulder High she has continually volunteered to help others. For the past two years, she has been president of the Boulder Opportunity and Service Team, a student volunteer group with students from several high schools in the community. The organization has worked with local, national, and international humanitarian organizations to help children's welfare. A big concern has been homeless children and teens in Boulder. Her organization did a fundraiser for $2,000 to help Attention Homes. That is in addition to food drives, serving dinners at the shelter, winter coat drives, and numerous other activities helping others. One of her counselors wrote about her creativity in leadership. Another praised her for her passion for learning, her humanitarianism, and her love of life. The scholarship committee was very happy to recommend Vivi for a $1,000 scholarship. She will be attending Macalester College in St. Paul, Minnesota in the fall.

Special guests at the luncheon were these three beneficiaries of our club's Alert Dog Program who received dogs that were trained to protect them from allergy or diabetes reactions

Update about Kiwanis Club of Kiev's Community Service and Youth Projects – Sneja Shpak

We (the Kiwanis Club of Kiev) have opportunities to help some poor families -- buy groceries, do small repairs in the apartment, buy medicines, clothes and books for the school. Our projects are more directed at children and adolescents. We think – "What is the future of our country?" Very important as they grow up, who will be, as will apply to people and what will be in their hearts. Spring, summer, and autumn we organize celebrations and meetings with treats, outdoor games, puppet shows, and small gifts. Sometimes kids do different things with their hands, and we are doing the show and sell crafts. Use part of the money to purchase items for other crafts, and some of the money for <our club's> projects. Find interesting people and conduct classes for teens. Recently we taught them to cook jam from different fruits (example of apples + kiwi + ginger -- came out very tasty!). The kids take home jam for their parents. All meetings are organized by my daughter, a creative person who likes to work with people.
